Word has been received in Burlington that Professor Appelmann has sailed from Halifax.

Navigation on Lake Champlain closed Saturday, when the steamer Ticonderoga made her last trip for the season.

Fred L. Davis, former state livestock commissioner, has been chosen to fill the vacancy on the board of selectmen for the town of Hartford, caused by the death of Robert Smith.

Miss Harrington, musical instructor in the Burlington high school, is teaching the pupils the new war songs, feeling that all should know the songs which the soldiers are singing in the trenches.

The large electrically illuminated star which has hung from the steeple of the Rutland Congregational church during the holiday season for the past three years, was lighted for the first time this year last Sunday night.

Two boys, Fred Bump and Wilfred LeMay of Clarendon, while in the woods near that place Thursday, treed a bay lynx. One boy stood guard while the other went for his father, who shot the animal. A $5 bounty was received.

When the blocking of the wheels on a wagon containing a ton of coal gave way, as the driver was about to deliver the coal at the house of H. S. Gould in Swanton, last week, the whole load slid down a bank and deposited the coal in Forge brook.

The Appalachian club of Boston, of over 2,800 members, composed of both men and women, will make Bristol its headquarters this year at the time of the annual Christmas outing in the mountains. The club is due to arrive at Bristol Dec. 26 and for five days will enjoy outdoor life.

Mrs. Bert Maxfield, the Starksboro woman who shot and killed her four-year-old son and then attempted to kill herself, is recovering at the Fanny Allen hospital in Winooski. The bullet is still in her head. It is alleged that she sent her husband to a store in Starksboro for morphine, to the use of which she was addicted, and when he returned without it she became crazed and started shooting.

John Cameron, for some years employed by J. F. Cashman of Burlington, who was injured Nov. 26, when he fell or was thrown from one of the heavy wagons, died Nov. 28 in the Mary Fletcher hospital. At the hospital it was decided that the wagon passed over his body. Mr. Cameron was 48 years of age. His body was taken for burial to Bennington, where his wife was at the time of the accident.

Smith, for four years deputy collector in charge at the customs port in Alburg, has been appointed special deputy to the collector at Buffalo, the center of the big customs district of the United States. Mr. Smith is a Highgate boy and since 1903 has been employed in the customs department in the various departments. His promotion came from Washington and was a recognition of his merit in the work.

Dr. C. W. Dunstan, a physician in Craftsbury, died suddenly on Thanksgiving day. Had he lived until next February he and his father, who was also a physician, would have practiced medicine in the town for just a century. Dr. Dunstan was between 75 and 80 years old and had been in active practice up to the time of his death. He had been health officer since the law was passed 25 years ago. Gov. Horace F. WESTERN LOANS ARE HELPING VERMONT

Because Banks Are Able to Call in Their Money at the Present Time, According to Bank Commissioner Williams.

State Bank Inspector Frank C. Williams finds that the law which Vermont has enacted for some years relative to allowing its banks to make loans in other states is proving beneficial to the banks and the state at the present time with the call being made upon these state institutions for funds. If the law had not existed and all of the loans from the banks had been within the state it would have made a different story, just as it is doing now in Massachusetts, the banking officers and state officers of which are writing Mr. Williams for advice as to how Vermont is handling her call loans at the present time. Banks in that, as well as other states where the loans have been made within the state, are being forced to call in the loans to respond to the federal demand for money.

The banking institutions in this state have in years gone by loaned considerable money in western states. This has been upon farm mortgages but the high prices which the farmers in that part of the country have been receiving since the war broke out and more especially in the last year, have caused them to take up all loans due and, in many instances, to pay off the mortgage entirely. This general paying off of loans has thrown into Vermont many thousands of dollars that would not otherwise have been in use. The same is true of any other Vermont institution having loans in western states; they can get their money if they want it. Of course some do not because they want to reserve the field for future sales.

The banks at the present time are a little slow in loaning because they do not know how large deposits will be withdrawn from their institutions Jan. 1 to be used in payment for Liberty loan bonds that have been purchased in the last few months, but upon which the money was not withdrawn at the time that the depositor might not lose the interest. If the banks had co-operated upon the work, as Mr. Williams had urged, they would have known very closely as to the withdrawals of deposits Jan. 1. However, these will not materially effect the loaning after the first of the year, for it is believed that the payment of western loans by the farm owners will be sufficiently large so there will be ready loan money.

But that's not all there is to it. In a way all pianos look alike. Some are made to sell, some are made to wear well and some are real artistic musical instruments. The Emerson is a real piano and you can buy one for $325. After this sale you have the new prices and will cost you $450. Those we have were purchased before the advance. Call and see them or send for catalog to Geo. D. Jarvis & Son, 7-15 So. Winooski Ave., Burlington, Vt.—adv.

What the Women in Paris Are Wearing.

A cable to the fashion editor of the Woman's Home Companion says, in the December issue: "Paris, especially the house of Premet, is favoring the one-sided effect. Collars are one-sided. The corsage and the coat close at one side, and, imagine it, one sleeve is often set into a higher shoulder line than the other. The spiral skirt is another Premet creation. It is made of one length of material, the selvage forming the hem, wound about the body to lap at one side.

"The new boleros are narrow in effect. They are made with points falling at the sides; these points often finished with tassels. "Not swinging over her arm as heretofore, but attached to her swagger stick! That is the place where the faithful New York girl is now carrying her new silk bag. "Brushed wool, beige in color, is used to give novelty to a Chippendale brown velvet suit coat. The wool collar is really a scarf. It is draped about the neck, one end continuing in surplus style and finishing at the center back in a long tasselled end.

"Here is a little story summary worth considering: For street wear, the coat dress sponsored by Mme. Jenny; this was a three-quarter coat effect with a very narrow skirt. Tunic dresses where the combination of fabric is most striking. One-piece dresses emphasizing the straight-line silhouette in front and the bustle back. Evening dresses with short skirts, bustle draperies and long pointed trains."

A BARRE INTERVIEW

Mr. Cummings Tells His Experience

The following brief account of an interview with a Barre man eleven years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen. Geo. L. Cummings, 75 Prospect street, Barre, gave the following statement in November, 1905: "I had a constant, dull ache in the small of my back and through my kidneys, which was always more severe after a hard day's work. I had distressing kidney weakness, which was most annoying. Doan's Kidney Pills removed all signs of the trouble."

On November 8, 1916, Mr. Cummings said: "I am glad to again recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. The benefit I received from them has been permanent." 60c at all dealers'. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.
